

SPEAKER ISSUED WARNING TODAY

LOBBYISTS TOLD THEY MUST OBEY STATE LAWS STRICTLY.

NAMES WILL BE POSTED

List of Registered Lobbyists Will Be Displayed—Legislature Adjourned
Today Until Monday Evening.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 17.—Speaker
Ingram has issued a significant warning again today directed at the lobbyists who have been approaching as-semblymen on subjects for which they did not register and to whom they have not registered at all.

It was voted to post the names of all registered lobbyists on a bulletin board and a list of a dozen lobbyists was read.

The Stern bill for non-partisan school board elections was passed by a vote of 45 to 31.

Both houses of the legislature today
entered into a heated controversy over the question of adjournment until next week, and as a result, both branches
adjourned until eight o'clock Monday night.

The legislature, however, adopted a joint resolution providing for daily sessions, excluding Sundays and holidays, after Feb. 28.

Senator Sanborn introduced a resolution memorializing congress to grant Alaska a territorial form of government. He also introduced a joint resolution for an amendment to the state constitution to make the city of Madison subject to a direct government by the legislature in place of the present form of city government. The bill is interpreted to place Madison
under the same rule as Washington, D. C.

The senate put over until Wednesday the Wesley resolution endorsing the Sullivan pension bill.

PIONEER LUMBERMAN STRICKEN THIS MORN

Clarence Chamberlain Died This Morn
of Hemorrhage of the Brain
While in Barber's Chair.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Eau Claire, Wis., Feb. 17.—Clarence
E. Chamberlain, a pioneer lumberman and one of the original incorporators
of the Empire Lumber company of this city and well known throughout the Northwest, was stricken at noon today while seated in a barber chair at the Eau Claire club and died a few minutes later. Hemorrhage of the brain was the cause.

HOUSE OF COMMONS MAY TAKE ACTION AS TO ANNEXATION

Resolution Presented At Washington
Has Caused Much Trouble For English Government Already.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

London, Feb. 17.—In the House of Commons, Rowlands Hunt, a Unionist member announced he would introduce a resolution on Tuesday regarding England will reply to America regarding the question of resolution of representative Bennett. Introduced at Washington yesterday.

No Real Danger.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 17.—That the resolution of Representative Bennett of New York state, made yesterday directing President Taft to confer with England relative to the annexation of Canada, was not taken seriously, was evidenced by the report of the committee on foreign affairs today.

Nine To One.

The Bennett resolution was referred to this committee by the speaker and when brought up for consideration
this morning it was decided by a vote of nine to one that it should be reported back for immediate slaughter.
This action was reached after a long discussion of the matter.

May Cause Debate.

RISE OF WATER AT FREEPORT CAUSES PROPERTY DAMAGE

Property Suffers and Boats Are Brought Into Service as Result of Swelled Pecatonica River.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Freeport, Ill., Feb. 17.—Heavy property damage is being wrought here and boats are being used today to take people from their homes on the entire east side of the city, as the result of a sudden rise of the Pecatonica river. A flood gate on the local bridge is now higher than it has been for twenty-one years.

Property Loss $100,000.

Property loss of more than $100,000
has already been caused by the flood down the Pecatonica river. Hundreds of families have been compelled to flee from their homes. Electric light and water plants have shut down and all factories using electricity have closed. The water is rising and threatens to wash all bridges away.
The people in East Freeport have been forced to leave the lower floors of their homes and, in some cases, sought refuge on tops of their houses.

SENATE AT WORK ON POPULAR ELECTION OF U. S. SENATORS

Matter Was Taken Up Today and Friends of Measure Are Hopeful
For Vote On Sutherland Amendment.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 17.—The Senate last night today in getting to work on the proposition of authorizing the popular election of United States senators. Friends of the measure are hopeful that during the day
a vote will be reached on Sutherland's amendment giving congress control over senatorial election.

Sen. Bailey made a lengthy legal argument quoting liberally from the decisions of courts to sustain his views, which are opposed to the Sutherland amendment.

COMMITTEE REPORTS FAVORABLY ON BILL

Which Will Promote American Merchant Marine to House of Representatives Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 17.—The Hobson bill to encourage the development of the American merchant marine and promote commerce and national defense was reported favorably to the house today by the committee on merchant marine.

WOULD SEEK BETTER TRADE RELATIONS

Senator Root in Speech Before Pan-American Conference Urges Organization for South American Trade.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 17.—With a plea for the organization and combination on the part of American businessmen for the promotion of trade with Latin-America, Senator Root lauded
the principle of the organization in business session of the Pan-American commercial conference. He deplored the fact that the operations of the law against great industrial organizations "reduced industrial efficiency of the country." While he favored breaking up the organizations that monopolize means of subsistence, Senator Root thought the object could be reached without reducing the industrial efficiency of the country.

ILLINOIS ELECTRIC RAILROADS UNITED

Interurban Companies Organized Today to Make Strong Fight Against Steam Lines.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 17.—With a view to presenting a united front to the steam roads, representatives of the principal Illinois traction companies met in Chicago today to complete the organization of the Illinois Electric Railway association. The new organization will endeavor to connect all interurban lines in Illinois eventually,
to fix uniform rates, to bring about the adoption of interchangeable mileage books for all interurban lines, to make a concerted combination for freight traffic and government adoption of standards.

WIFE OF ATTORNEY DIED LAST NIGHT

Mrs. R. M. Richmond of Evansville
Succumbs to An Illness of Several Weeks Last Evening.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Evansville, Feb. 17.—Mrs. R. M.
Richmond passed away at her home in this city at nine o'clock last night, after an illness of several weeks. The deceased was born in Vandallia, Ill.,
and when an infant, came to Platteville with her family. She received her education in that city and later graduated from the normal there. For some years she was a teacher in the high school at Viroqua and was also on the faculty of the normal schools
at Platteville and Black River Falls.
On July 17, 1894, she was married to Robert M. Richmond and has since made her home at Evansville. She is survived by her husband and one daughter, Dorothy Washburn, 11 years old.

INMATE OF COUNTY HOUSE FOUND DEAD

John Gebhardt, Aged 65, Found Dead
This Morning in Field Back of Milwaukee Arms House.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Milwaukee, Feb. 17.—With his feet
buried in the mud, John Gebhardt,
aged 65, an inmate of the county jail
house, was found dead at 7:15 a. m.
today in a deserted field in the rear of the institution. Death is thought to have been due to an epileptic fit and exposure. Gebhardt disappeared from the institution and a futile search was made last evening up to twelve o'clock.

POLICE THWARTED ATTEMPTED LYNCHING

Negro Who Slashed White Man With a Razor Finally Landed in Jail
After Fight With Posse.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 17.—After Harry Madison, a negro, had slashed
a white man with a razor in a fight,
a squad of police fought desperately
with a mob who attempted to lynch
him. The negro was finally lodged in jail.

Have Been Warned Against Floods Which Are Threatened.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 17.— Grand River threatens to go on its annual rampage. At Portland, Mich., an ice gorge has formed, causing factories along the river to close. Flood warnings have been issued.

CONVENTION OF THE TEACHERS OF DEAF LAND OF PHAROAH

To Be Held at Delavan, July 6 to 13
—Instructors From All Over
County to Be Present.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Delavan, Wis., Feb. 17.—A "national house party" will be held in Delavan from July 6 to 13, when the American Instructors of the Deaf hold their triennial convention at the Wisconsin
School for the Deaf, Supt. and Mrs. J. W.
Walker and the faculty being the hosts.

Delavan was awarded the convention, which meets every three years,
in recognition of the high rank of the Wisconsin state school and the work it is doing. The meetings generally are held in the large centers of population and the fact that Delavan was chosen for 1911 is considered a signal honor.

Some of the sessions will be held at Delavan Lake Assembly grounds, a popular summer resort, while the speakers buildings of the state school will be used for the general meetings.
More than 600 instructors in state schools of the United States and Canada will be present. The homes of the city will be thrown open to them.

The purpose of the triennial convention, according to Supt. Walker, is to help the cause of educating and training deaf children for useful and helpful lives by an interchange of ideas and plans, and the development of ways and means for instruction.

TO REPORT COTTON BILL TO SENATE

Bill to Prevent Dealing in Futures on Cotton Exchanges Goes to Senate Without Recommendation.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Washington, Feb. 17.—By a vote of 6 to 5 the senate committee on interstate commerce today decided to report to the senate without recommendation the bill designed to prevent dealing in futures contracts on cotton. Judge E. B. Farrar of New Orleans, told the committee the bill would destroy buying and selling on futures contracts on the floor of the cotton exchanges. "Only where there is no intention to deliver on the contract," replied Senator Tillman of South Carolina. "It is only to prevent attempts to gamble—to steal."

POLITICAL MOVE IS SEEN IN PROPOSAL TO INCREASE RATE

Samuel G. Blythe, Political Writer, Says Postal Increase Is Move To Stamp Out Inauguration.
Copyright 1911 by the United Press Association.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 17.—Samuel
G. Blythe, one of the foremost writers and political students of America,
makes the direct charge in an article written for the United Press that the effort to increase the postal rate on magazines is part of a plot to stamp out the progressive movement in politics.

Blythe declared that it was an act of direct reprisal on the part of President Taft, Postmaster General Hitchcock, Speaker Cannon, Senator Al-dritch, and all of the Cannon and Al-dritch crowd in congress.

The Blythe article follows:
Politics, not a postal deficit, is the underlying motive of the administration's attack on the magazines and periodicals press of this country through the medium of an increase in second class postage.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has his excuse in his alleged deficit.
President Taft has his excuse in his support of a cabinet member, who is trying to put his department on a self supporting basis. The administration senators who attacked the amendment
on the postoffice bill have their excuse
in the demand of the President that the increase shall be adopted. They are making these excuses, too, now, that they are discovering how thoroughly the people are aroused on the matter of using the taxing power of the government to confiscate for that is what it amounts to—a free press that has dared to criticize and condemn certain acts of both the administration and the supporters of the administration in congress.

Laying aside the tremendous economic fact that the imposition of this tax by the government means the ruin
of the magazine and periodical business in this country, the absolute extinction of the popular magazines, look at the politics of it. Three facts are contained:

1. This tax is a part of a carefully matured plan by the administration, in conjunction with the interests of the Republican majority in congress, to stamp out the progressive republican movement in this country by depriving it movement of its means of publicity
and its medium for the spread of its propaganda.

2. It is especially directed at the newly formed progressive republican league and at the progressives in congress who have been supported by the magazines and periodical press in their attempts to rid the country of Aldritchism and Cannonism.

3. It is an act of direct reprisal on the part of the president, Hitchcock, Aldrich, Cannon and all the Aldrich and Cannon crowd in congress, of whom there are seven on the committee and that put the amendment in the senate bill, intended to punish these magazines and periodicals that have spoken fearlessly about governmental and political abuses.

Of course, the publishers can make
the case and are making it vigorously
and effectively, that this discriminatory reprisal tax will bankrupt them,
or if any of them can continue, will inevitably increase the price of the popular magazines to the reading public, but that is not the main point.

The vital thing that concerns the people of this country is that this administration by exercising the taxing power, is endeavoring to abolish a free press, not only in the interests of its own political ambitions and those of the men who serve it but also in the interests and for the protection of the financial powers it seeks to serve.

The question is bigger than any one of money, either in the government's purse or out of the purses of the publishers and the thousands of men who will be thrown out of employment if the publishing business is curtailed,
as it will be if this increase in second class postage becomes a law.

It is a blow at the liberty guaranteed
under the constitution, and is subversive to every American idea of justice, fair play and decent politics.

LIVE WIRE KILLS 2 WORKMEN TODAY

Two Telephone Linemen At Lake City,
Minn., Met Death By Contact
With Electric Wire.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Lake City, Minn., Feb. 17.—Peter Gludt and son Elmer Gludt were electruted this morning. Young Gludt, who is a telephone lineman, attempted to remove a 2,200-voltage light wire
that had fallen over a telephone wire.
He received a shock that killed him.
His father who went to his aid was knocked senseless. Mrs. Gludt succeeded in pulling both free from the wire and escaping injury herself.
Both men died without recovering consciousness.

MEMBERS OF ENGLISH ROYAL FAMILY FIFTY YEARS OLD

London, Feb. 17.—The Duchess of Albany, who married Prince Leopold, youngest son of Queen Victoria, in 1882, celebrated her fiftieth birthday
today at Claremont House,
her residence in Surrey. She received a large number of telegrams and letters of congratulation, among them being messages from the King and Queen, the German Emperor and Empress, C. A. Collier, Rockefeller, G. H. Childs, man, Prospect, Edw. H. Grannatt, New York; Chris. Olson, Stoughton; H. W.
Freeman, Minneapolis; J. M. Hess, A.
F. Hobgen, Theo. Renter, A. I. Snyder,
W. A. Ritter, A. B. Chudwick, Geo. W.
Gove, Geo. W. Carlton, Milwaukee;
C. P. Lemmo, H. C. Schell, W. E.
Brown, C. W. Fane, Chicago.

The Duchess of Albany is one of the most popular members of England's royal family. Her popularity is due in a measure, doubtless, to the fact that only two years after her marriage to Prince Leopold the latter died suddenly, leaving her, as it were, a ward of the nation. Before her marriage she was Princess Helen, daughter of the late Prince George of Waldeck and Pyrmont. She is related to many of the reigning houses of Europe in her own right, the queen mother of Holland being her sister.

RUSSIA IS WARNED BY THE POWERS TO MOVE CAUTIOUSLY

Fear An Outbreak of Anti Foreign Riots If Russian Army Crosses Frontier.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

London, Feb. 17.—European chan-celleries are today warning Russia to proceed cautiously in her threatened military demonstration against China.
There is fear of an anti foreign outbreak in China should Russia make decided overtures.

Russia's Attitude.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 17.—"Novoye Vremya," discussing today the announced purpose of Russia to make a military demonstration in the Province of the Chinese Turkistan, describes the note presented at Peking as the semi-ultimatum, as it does not specify
the term within which China must comply with demands of St. Petersburg.

The paper adds, however, that if the Chinese government fails to act before the lapse of fortnight, the semi-ultimatum will be amplified.

REBELS REPORTED NEAR ASCENSION

Rumored That General Orozco and Blanco Have Assembled Forces
and Are Near That City.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

El Paso, Texas, Feb. 17.—An official of the Mexican Northwestern railway reports that Generals Orozco and Blanco Insurrectos leaders have finally consummated a junction of their forces and are located near Ascension, Narvaro State.

After fifty hours of inactivity following his arrival from Chihuahua, General Narvaro this morning with 500
infantrymen, 200 cavalry and two field pieces left Juarez in the direction of Guadalupe, where the insurgent chiefs are located.

Madero in Charge.

That Francisco Madero, provisional
president of the Mexican revolutionary government, is in personal command of the troops and will lead the new planned insurgent attack on the city of Chihuahua, was stated here today by a messenger arriving from Guadalupe, temporary headquarters of the insurgents.

VIOLENCE AGAINST ANTI-SALOON MAN

Is Evident Judging From Depredations Which Have Been Committed.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

La Crosse, Wis., Feb. 17.—Following letters yesterday threatening death
if he persisted in his anti-saloon campaign, the windows in the office of George H. Marvin, reform alderman, were smashed during the night. The police have no clue but are rounding up the saloon element. Marvin announces he will continue his war on the saloons.

EDGERTON PEOPLE TO MIGRATE SOUTH

Quite A Number of Citizens of Tobacco City Will Engage in Fruit Farming in Alabama.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, Feb. 17.—With the advent of spring there is promise of quite a delegation of people from this vicinity who will migrate to the south,
the majority intending to take up their home near Irvinburg, Ala., which is 20 miles north of Mobile, where the elevation is high and the climate tempered by the Gulf. Among the number who will go so far as is known are:
Charles Saunders of Albion; John Jan-
son, John Hanson and Old Newman, Jr.
All the parties named have purchased farming lands and they intend to engage extensively in fruit raising.

JOINT MEETING TO BE HELD IN MARCH

Men's Clubs of the City Churches Will Meet Together on March Eighth.

At a meeting of the committees from the churches of the city at the Y. M. C. A. building last evening, a date was fixed and other arrangements were made for the holding of a joint meeting of the clubs, March 8th, at the Baptist church, which will be the time and place of the gathering and clubs from the Presbyterian, Congregational, United Brethren, Methodist and Baptist church will be present.

L. F. Tahr was elected toastmaster for that occasion and was also made chairman of the program committee, the other members of which are: A. E. Matheson, H. C. Jackson, Roy Cary, and E. C. Bailey. A committee was also appointed on general arrangements consisting of: W. B. Conrad, M. F. Green, H. C. Jackson and A. E. Matheson.

Some phase of the Brotherhood idea will undoubtedly be the subject of the joint meeting, but the exact topic has not yet been decided. It is planned to secure an out of town speaker if possible, as well as local men to address the meeting.

The national convention of the Men's Brotherhood, which is to be held in St. Louis, Feb. 21-23, was also considered and it was decided that no one from here would attend. The local clubs are all members of the national organization.

BIG CROWD AT THE MOOSE GATHERING

Housewarming Last Night Was Most Successful Affair Attracting Many People.

Resplendent in handsome decorations of potted plants and red curtains and with the American flag displayed prominently, the lodge rooms of the Janesville lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose, presented a gala appearance last evening on the occasion of the housewarming given by the lodge in honor of the anniversary of its organization a year ago. The club rooms were filled with people throughout the entire evening, the entertainment being open to the public. A delightful program was given in the hall on the third floor and afterward an informal dance was held. Impromptu speeches were given by several of the members and some especially fine musical selections rendered by the male choir of St. Mary's church and the Orpheus Mandolin club—George Hannan, Harry Hagart, and Will McCue. Piano accompaniment was furnished by W. P. Thiele, P. Nouses and Tony Januska sang a duet, Mr. Nouses a solo, and a quartet composed of George Easor, W. P. Thiele, P. Nouses and T. Januska gave a German dialect song.

The affair last evening was to display to the public the splendid new quarters of the lodge. The upper two floors have been entirely remodeled and refitted for the uses of the club and are very cozy and handsome. The second floor is given over to the reception and billiard rooms, while the upper floor is used for the lodge meetings, with a kitchen at the rear for the serving of banquets.

JUDGES ATTENDING MADISON MEETING

Judge Fifield of This City, Circuit Judge Grimm and Judge Rosa of Beloit At Criminology Conference.

Municipal Judge Charles L. Fifield of this city, Circuit Judge George Grimm of Jefferson, and Municipal Judge C. D. Rosa of Beloit, are in Madison today representing his judicial district at the annual conference of trial judges, board of control and heads of penal and corrective institutions held under the auspices of the Wisconsin branch of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology. The meetings began this afternoon and are being held in the law school at the university. The general subject of the conference, which closes tomorrow, is "The Problems Presented to the Trial Judge in Sentencing Convicted Persons and to Heads of Penal and Corrective Institutions in Carrying out the Sentence." Between thirty and forty barristers of the state are attending the conference.

THINGS GOING ON IN A SOCIAL WAY

Society Events That Occurred and Will Occur in This City—Junior Prom at Madison.

A number of ladies were entertained at a one o'clock luncheon at the home of Mrs. H. C. Carter yesterday. Those present were seated at a table in the dining room which was beautifully decorated with pink roses and candles. The party, embraced in bridge during the afternoon. The first award was taken by Mrs. J. A. Sutherland and the consolation went to Mrs. Sue Wilcox.

Mrs. Charles Weirick will be the hostess at the meeting of the Philomathean club, Saturday afternoon, at her home, 452 South Garfield avenue.

Mrs. Joseph Hostwick entertained a whist club at her home yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rexford are entertaining at a six o'clock dinner at their home this evening.

Tonight will be held the annual Junior "Prom" in the university gymnasium at Madison. This is the big social event of the year in student circles at the Capital City and many people from outside of the school will be in attendance. Miss Jean Jeffers, formerly of this city, will be a guest at one of the house parties.

SALOONKEEPER'S WIFE LOCATED IN CLINTON

Mrs. Harry McAfee, Missing About a Week, Telephoned to Her Husband Here Last Night.

After an absence of about a week, during which time it was alleged she had eloped with Arthur Genovese, who acted as bartender for her husband, Mrs. Harry McAfee, wife of the saloonkeeper whose place on South River street was closed, last evening (telephoned to her husband in this city that she with her children were at the home of his sister in Clinton. McAfee went to Clinton last night to join her. The woman told her husband she had not been with the bartender but did not state where she had been.

TO ARGUE MOTION FOR A NEW TRIAL

Stay of Sentence Granted Bert Kiner, And Effort Will Be Made to Secure Him Trial Again.

Adjournment until Monday was today taken in the hearing of arguments in the motion to secure a new trial for Bert P. Kiner, who was yesterday convicted of unreasonable neglect and failure to support his wife. The jury sitting on the case at five o'clock yesterday afternoon brought in a verdict of guilty, after deliberating about an hour and a half. Attorney Thomas R. Nolan immediately asked for a stay of sentence, which was granted, and made a motion for a new trial.

The defendant in the trial, Kiner, feels certain that a reconciliation with his wife can be effected and the proceedings annulled, but it is stated Mrs. Kiner will not agree to this.

KICKERS' COLUMN.

On reading the articles in the Gazette in regard to the stone pile at the county jail, I have an opinion which I would like to present to the public. Our justices, judges, and district attorneys are too severe in giving sentences to unfortunate men. They do not act human, when we consider the cause of intemperance, which is the greatest curse that can befall a man. When a justice or judge gives thirty or forty days to one of those drunks, who nine times out of ten has been capable of supporting himself and family, it reminds one of the "kick" in the olden times, who gave his sentence so freely. It seems to me it would be better if they would give them some good advice. I believe a poor drunk is more to be pitied than to be laughed at. By giving so long a sentence the man's family, if he has one is being punished more than the man himself.

Often in reading over the police reports of the month it looks as if it were a race between the various policemen in trying to see which would make the most arrests. If Janesville was as large as some of our larger cities and the arrests were made at the same rate as they are now, the jail would need a jail as large as the buildings on the county farm. It would be much better if the police would walk two or three blocks farther towards the individual's home, than to the city hall. I am sure it would be more credit to the policeman and more uplifting to the drunk. It looks as if the people whose official duties bring them in contact with those drunks, had lost all human feelings for them.

Daily Gazette, Janesville.
I am interested in the Koshkonong fishing question as I have fished, off and on, for the past twenty years and during this time have watched the carp question with a great deal of care. I find that these fish will eat very little spawn unless there is a scarcity of their own natural food. The greatest danger to all kinds of fish eggs, from these carp is that they will not leave them quiet long enough for them to mature. They keep the water around the eggs constantly in motion and prevent hatching. Carp-fishing for just carp should be a right, but it is the taking out of all kinds of red horse, buffaloes, and mudpots, that make the people that live away from the lakes prejudiced against it. Many different kinds of fish run up the streams for about fifteen miles and furnish the people who live along its bank with food, but this kind of carp fishing is depriving all these of these fish. If the state would conduct this fishing in a proper manner it would be a great thing for Lake Koshkonong.

DENOUNCES CLAIM OF PEARY

Press Gallery in House Empties as Congressman Macon Talks Against Explorer's Recognition.

Washington, Feb. 17.—When Mr. Macon of Arkansas got up to speak on Captain Peary and his north pole claims the press gallery was emptied, either by accident or design. Mr. Macon is the member who got into the row with a newspaper man who was punished by ten days' exclusion from the hall of the house. Mr. Macon delivered himself of a severe condemnation of the claims of Peary to the discovery of the north pole and voiced vehement opposition to recognition of Peary by congress for the discovery.

GOMPERS APPEALS FOR AID

Seeks to Raise $500,000 to Be Used in Los Angeles Labor Fight.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has sent to all labor organizations throughout the country a circular asking aid in raising a fund of half a million dollars to be used in fighting opponents of organized labor at Los Angeles.

"We are issuing this appeal," said Mr. Gompers, "for the purpose of aiding our fellow workmen in Los Angeles to maintain their rights and liberties as men of organized labor."

BORAH SCORES NORTH

SAYS RACE PREJUDICE AS STRONG AS IN SOUTH.Asserts Hypocrisy Is Shown Toward Negro—Take Direct Vote
Bill Up Today.

Washington, Feb. 17.—That prejudice against the negro is just as intense in the north as in the south, and that the north plays the hypocrite in its contentions to the contrary, was boldly and bluntly asserted in the senate by Senator Borah of Idaho.

His declarations regarding the negro were made at the close of a prolonged speech in opposition to the Sutherland amendment to the senate resolution providing for the election of senators by popular vote. That amendment would have the effect of giving congress control of senatorial elections.

The Idaho senator contended that congress would have the right to protect the individual voter in senatorial elections even with the constitutional provisions giving specific authority in that direction eliminated, and in so doing aroused sharp antagonism from Senators Nelson, Carter and Sutherland.

Mr. Borah treated the Sutherland amendment as a device to kill the resolution, declaring it to be a bulwark from behind which the measure might be shot to death.

The Idaho senator's pronouncement on the race question was in response to the recent assertion of Senator Root that without the Sutherland provision the resolution would deprive the southern negroes of federal protection in the exercise of the franchise.

Mr. Borah dissented from the New York senator's view, and in doing so used language which elicited congratulations from many senators.

PINNED BY ELEPHANT'S TUSK

Elbert Hubbard Narrowly Escapes
Death or Serious Injury at Reception
at Portland, Ore.

Portland, Ore., Feb. 17.—While attending a reception in his honor given by the Portland Press club, Elbert Hubbard was attacked by a trick elephant which had been taken up to the club, and it was only by rare luck that he escaped death, or at least serious injury.

Soon after Mr. Hubbard had seated himself in the club he grasped the extended trunk of the animal, which twice wrapped it around the author's neck. Suddenly the beast lunged forward with trunk uplifted. The tusks passed by Hubbard's head and pinned him fast to the wall.

Then the trainer whipped the brute off and Hubbard, deathly pale, but uninjured, crept from the chair to a place of safety.

"TICKLE-EM-JOCK" IS BEST

Scotch Terrier Is Declared to Be Champion of Any Breed or Class of Dogs.

New York, Feb. 17.—Tickle-em-Jock, a Scotch terrier, owned and exhibited by Andrew Albright, Jr., of Newark, N. J., was declared by the judges to be the champion of all dogs of any breed or class, at the exhibit of the Westminster Kennel club at Madison Square garden. The winner was picked from 20 canines eligible to compete for the honor, the aggregate value of which was estimated at $50,000.

Tickle-em-Jock was offered for sale Wednesday for $1,000, but now he is held at a prohibitive price of over $5,000.

You Can Be Made Well If You Will Come to the Chiropractors

Raymond Puddicombe

Every disease known to mankind yields to Chiropractic adjustments. Chiropractic is a science of old truths, the most wonderful aid to mankind in centuries. It's a new science, that analyzes and locates unerringly the physical cause of disease, and provides a means of adjusting or removing the cause more promptly, radically and permanently than any other method known at the present time. These may seem bold statements to back them up. If you are sick and sufferments to make. Yet there is plenty of proof.

ing, if you have tried the medical profession and failed to be cured, come to us. Ninety-eight per cent of the people that come to the Chiropractors are made well, and this notwithstanding the fact that 75 per cent of the same people HAVE BEEN GIVEN UP by the medical profession. Call for an examination and advice in regard to your troubles. Even though slight, they may be nature's danger signals of serious ailments. EXAMINATIONS COST NOTHING.

TO ALL READERS

The Gazette is anxious to bring each of its readers into closer touch with both the newspaper and each other. It would like to have them feel free to send in news items. Notices of parties, personal mentions, happenings in your own community, accidents that may occur—in fact anything that you think would interest other readers. Matters of this nature can be telephoned to the editorial rooms. Call Rock county telephone 62, or Wisconsin phone 77 three rings. Meetings of lodges, church gatherings, and special meetings of clubs it will be necessary to have written out and left at or mailed to the Gazette to avoid mistakes which might otherwise occur. The columns of the paper are also open to communication on subjects of interest. Write your views on affairs, on one side of the paper only. Be sure and sign your name; it will not be published if you do not wish it to, and either leave or mail to the office. Try this system and you will be surprised how much more interesting the reading of the evening paper becomes to you.

THE INCOME TAX.

Among the measures which are before the Wisconsin legislature for their consideration is the income tax bill, which deserves more than passing comment and the most strenuous kind of efforts to defeat. This income tax bill, as finally introduced, provides for the annual assessment and collection of a tax on all the gains, profits and income of every citizen of Wisconsin wherever he may reside; upon all persons living within the state, no matter where their homes may be; and upon all business done in the state by non-residents; this is to include corporations, co-partnerships and associations. Income includes interest and dividends, profits from sales of real estate purchased within the preceding three years, premiums received on bonds, notes and coupons, money and property acquired by gift or inheritance, loss the amount of inheritance tax already paid, or to be paid (this last clause will require the payment of income tax upon a wedding gift from father to son and will also reach inheritances received by Wisconsin residents from estates in other states) and finally all other gains, profits and income from any source whatever.

Exemptions are as follows: To single persons, $600; to husband and wife, $800; for each child under the age of 18 years, $200; for each dependent other than wife and children, $200; but no exemptions are to be allowed to corporations, co-partners, or associations. The rate of taxation rises from 1 per cent on the first $1,000 of taxable income all the way up to 5 1/2 per cent on the twelfth $1,000 and 6 per cent on everything in excess of $12,000. An assessor of income is to be appointed for each county by the State Tax Commission, which commission may also remove him. The assessor may be authorized to appoint deputies. Salaries are to be fixed by the commission but are limited to a percentage of the valuation of the property in the county. Every person, having an annual income more than $500, and every corporation, etc., having any income, must make a report annually and so must all guardians, trustees, executors, etc. This return must be made under oath. Assessors are given the power to estimate the income. Appeal is allowed to the Board of Review of the county. If the assessor estimates the income as being in excess of what is reported, the person liable shall have notice. The Board of Review upon discovering that any income was assessed too low in any of the three years preceding such discovery, may make additional entries for those years and may also supply omissions for those years. Every corporation, etc., must file in the office of the tax commission, a report of its stockholders, co-partners or shareholders with the postoffice address of each and the dividends, etc., paid to them, and the tax commission is then to inform the county assessors, thus permitting the latter to check statements made to them by residents within such counties. The Board of Review is to meet annually to hear complaints and review assessments and is given much the same power, on much the same conditions which the Board of Review now possesses concerning general assessments. Appeal lies to the State Tax Commission. The Board of Review for assessments of income, is to consist of the county clerk, county treasurer and district attorney. If any member is unable to act, the vacancy may be filled by the other members by appointing some other county official or member of the Board of Supervisors. In counties of more than 100,000 inhabitants, however, the Tax Commission is to appoint three resident taxpayers as the Board of Review. The revenue derived from income tax is to be divided, 2 1/2 per cent to the state, 12 1/2 per cent to the county, and 5 per cent to the town, city or village. Information obtained by an assessor is to be kept secret by him under penalty of fine and imprisonment, etc. The office of county supervisor of assessments is to be abolished and all his powers are conferred upon the assessor of income. The assessor of income must report to the Tax Commission and to the Board of Supervisors and otherwise according to the direction of the commission which apparently has power to break down the confidential character of communication. Real estate is to be assessed as at present but quadrennially instead of annually; all personal property is to be assessed annually. The words "personal property" as used here is no longer to include debts on account, note, contract, bond, mortgage or other security due or to become due; nor monies. All monies, stocks and bonds, not otherwise specially provided for, are to be exempted from taxation, their income only being taxed; and also personal ornaments, jewelry, household furniture, farm, orchard, garden, machinery and implements, actually used in operation; and the exemption of a watch not exceeding $50 in value is now to be corrected so that the watch may be of any value and still be exempted; the mortgage taxation law is not to be affected. It will thus be seen that a manufacturer must continue as at present to pay a real estate tax on his real estate, a personal property tax on his raw material, goods in process of manufacture, machinery and stock in trade; that the dry goods merchant must pay a tax on all his stock; and still both must pay in addition an income tax on profits. Danville's house-cleaning has been given a most promising start. If the good work keeps up it will be all clear sailing for that grand jury to obtain a few convictions. Having invented a talking machine Edison now becomes one himself and the world listens to what he has to say. Monies are increasing in value but other things are not even worth as much as they should be, perhaps. Reports from Kansas of corruption will cause the sunflowers of that state to blush with shame and wilt. When an Englishman speaks of "Our Corruption" they mean that of King George, to be sure. Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

YOUR LETTER.

How long has it been since you have written a letter to the old folks at home?

Do you realize what such a letter means to father and mother?

Father will get it after the mail is distributed at the village postoffice, along with the county paper, perhaps, and a circular, and he will know the handwriting instantly.

He will not open it. Your letter is too precious for that. Your letter is more than an incident; it constitutes an epoch. And father will put it into his pocket carefully and go home.

"A letter from John, mother." Mother dries her hands and sits down in her chair, while father gets out and carefully wipes his reading spectacles. And father begins—

"Dear father and mother."

That isn't much, to be sure. It was the natural way for you to begin your letter. But when father reads that much he stops a bit to clear his throat, and a tear slides down the worn face of your mother.

Every word is read.

There are intimacies when they stop to make exclamations or comments. They even laugh heartily over your crude attempts at humor. And so on to the ending—

"Your loving son."

Father holds the letter awhile and after a time, at mother's request, reads over again certain passages. And finally, when they have talked much together about you and the letter, father puts it back into its envelope and lays it on the mantelshelf.

Is that the last of your letter, think you?

It is only the beginning of it. It will be referred to for days and maybe weeks. And you, to whom writing is so easy, are you not ashamed of the long intervals between letters?

And, oh, my son or daughter, when you do write—

Do not be afraid to open your heart and tell the dear old folks all the love you have for them. Give your feelings full vent. Make your letter odorous with the perfume of your affection.

I take it for granted you have not imbibed that shameful form of snobbery where you are ashamed of the mother who bore you or of the father who fed you?

Well, then, write often.

Letters cost you but a trifle of time or effort.

To the old folks at home your letters are worth their weight in gold.

It often is said that a man must be dead before he is spoken of highly; but that isn't true of the popular view of that sweetest of old poets, Jim Riley! O we love him so that the lyre he plays as no other can play it, and all the year long we love him and his song, and we're only too happy to say it! The world's full of noise from poetical boys who pound on their harps with a hammer, and often, with tears, we are holding our ears, to shut out the horrible clamor. These singers are hoarse and their music is coarse, and their gentle heart that's brimming with love for his fellows; he doesn't make songs with a hammer and tongs, and blow up his fire with a bellows. His verse is as true and as pure as the blue of the heaven that's bending above him, and long may he live his sweet lyrics to give to the millions of people who love him!

"FLOATER" FOUND IN RIVER TODAY

BODY OF MAN TAKEN FROM RIVER BY POLICE NEAR MONTEREY BRIDGE.

THOUGHT TO BE BELGIAN

Joseph Miller, Former Laborer for Sugar Company, Missing Since September, and Corpse Is Thought to Be His.

Looked against a pile driven in the bed of the river twelve feet from the bank near the southern end of the Monterey bridge, the body of a "floater" was pulled from the icy waters of Rock river by police authorities about nine o'clock this morning. The body was badly decomposed and showed signs of having been in the water for a long time as the skin peeled off on all parts of his person and the corpse was terribly bloated.

The body was first noticed by Thomas Spohn and some companions, who took it to be that of a Chinaman, as there were spots on the head where the hair had been pulled off. They notified the police department and Chief of Police George Appleby, District Attorney Stanley Dunawidde, and Officer Champion drove in the patrol wagon to the place, taking with them a long pole with a grapple iron. One of the times was caught in the coat and the corpse pulled in slowly.

The current at the place where the man was found, is very swift at present, the recent rains having swelled the volume of water passing over what remains of the old dam and the fish runway, and it was feared for a time that the cloth might tear and allow the corpse to float down the river before being drawn ashore.

The body has not been identified, but is thought to be that of Joseph Miller, a Belgian employed by the Rock County Sugar company. Companions of the man, it was thought, could identify the body, if it were his, but at a late hour they had not visited the morgue. Miller completed a five-day sentence at the county jail on September 23, 1910, and since then has not been heard from, although anxious friends have sought his whereabouts. Two pay checks belonging to Miller have remained unclaimed at the sugar company's office.

Miller appeared discouraged with life when he left the jail, probably due partly to the fact that most of his wages were spent for liquor and a jail sentence generally followed soon after each payday. Miller had five cents in a pocketbook on his person at the time he left the jail. This leads to the belief that Miller is the man found this morning, as there was a pocketbook of a pattern similar to that Miller carried. There was, however, a fifty-cent piece in an inside trousers pocket which Miller did not have when he left the county jail. The man was about five feet eight inches in height, of stocky build, with close-cropped black hair, and showed signs of having had a mustache. He had evidently been a laboring man as was shown by calluses on his hands. He wore a coat, working shirt, three pairs of trousers and a suit of underclothing. In one of the pockets was what appeared to be the remains of a lunch, but there were no marks and nothing to indicate the identity of the man.

Several who viewed the remains were certain it was the missing Miller.

WON FOUNTAIN PEN AS THE PRIZE IN SPELLING MATCH

Miss Anna J. Weber Winner in Contest Held Today at Southern Wisconsin Business College.

Miss Anna J. Weber of this city, won the handsome gold-mounted fountain pen offered as a prize for the winner of the annual spelling contest held at the Southern Wisconsin Business college this morning. During the month of February each year it has been the practice of the management of the school to hold this contest, all of the students at the institution participating in it. Last year the award went to Miss Cleve Gilman of Evansville. The words are dictated to the students in sets of five, then corrected and those spelling the words correct were allowed to write on the next set of words until the list was completed.

W. B. ATWOOD HERO OF THE ACCIDENT

Led the Rescue Party in Recent Wreck North of Mineral Point.

There was received at the Gazette office today an unsigned communication in which W. B. Atwood, a traveling salesman for the Janesville Wholesale Grocery company, was depicted in the role of a hero. Owing to the fact the communication was unsigned it was not printed, but the fact that Mr. Atwood was on the ill-fated Chicago and North-Western freight train that was wrecked north of Mineral Point and led in the rescue work of dragging the fireman who was pinned under wreckage in the water, out, is worth knowing. The writer of the communication pays high tribute to Mr. Atwood and his work of organizing the brakemen and others in lifting the wreckage from the body of the poor fireman who later died from his injuries.

SOCIETY WOMEN
SEE PRIZE FIGHT

Anthony Drexel and Robert Beresford in Knockout Battle.

QUAKER CITY MAN IS LOSER

Bout Takes Place at Gould Private Gymnasium at Lakewood, N. J. Silver Cup Is Prize for English Winner.

New York, Feb. 17.—The family of George J. Gould and a score of guests, including some of the most prominent society men and women of New York and London, saw Anthony Drexel and the Hon. Robert Beresford fight to a knockout in the Gould's private gymnasium at Lakewood, N. J.

Drexel, although he put up a plucky and clever fighter, was felled repeatedly by the English amateur champion, and was so helpless at the end of the third round that his seconds dragged him from the ring and admitted a knockout.

Women Applaud Fighters.

At the most exciting stages of the encounter women in evening gowns arose and cried applause to the fighters.

The battle was terrific while it lasted, and one expert sporting man who was present and it was as good a "go" as he had ever seen in the prize ring.

Both Beresford and Drexel distinguished themselves by their thorough sportsmanship. Their fighting was as clean as the bound's tooth that another warrior made famous. When Drexel in the last round stood with his feet wide apart and his hands hanging useless at his side like Jeffries at Reno, Beresford stood back and would have waited for him to recover if Drexel's seconds had not declared him defeated.

Beresford Is Challenger.

The fight was the result of the widely published supper challenge that Beresford made to Drexel some weeks ago.

The English champion weighed in at 165 pounds, and the American champion at 161. They were clad in the regulation fighting garb and wore a magnificent looking pair as they entered the ring.

Beresford has two lords for his seconds, Lord Camoy and Lord Alastair Graham. Drexel's seconds were Jay Gould and Mr. Moffat. Lieut. Hubert De Burgh of the British navy was referee. Mrs. George Gould had offered a silver cup for the winner.

Drexel Lands Repeatedly.

When the first round opened Drexel started after Beresford with a rush and landed a clean left on his opponent's mouth—the first heavy blow of the fight. They clinched and Drexel, after the break, rushed again, landing rights and lefts to the body. Beresford had all he could do to keep away from the hero's swings and did not try to assume the aggressive until the last moment of the round, when he sprung a surprise.

Drexel had dashed in and landed a left on the stomach and a right over the heart, and as he was drawing away had dropped his guard. Beresford's arm shot out with a lightning-like left that caught the American unawares and laid him flat on his back.

Audience on Its Feet.

The audience was on its feet, most of the women screamed and the men applauded. But Drexel jumped lightly to his feet and laughed as he went to his corner. The clapping of many ill hands rewarded him.

When the song rang for the second round Drexel resumed his rushing tactics. He kept Beresford dodging and ducking, and finally landed a terrific blow, a right overhand, on Beresford's jaw, which made the Englishman whirl half round.

Again Beresford came to the front at the close of the round with a right uppercut that sent Drexel to the floor. The American had slipped, however. The round seemed to be easily Drexel's.

Beresford began to lay aside his dodging tactics at the beginning of the third round, and when Drexel made his usual rush he was met with a terrific right which landed over the heart. He was game clear through, however, and after backing away came back with an other rush.

Englishman Scores Knockdown.

This time Beresford brought all his cleverness into play and feinted and sidestepped until Drexel was bewildered. Suddenly a left swing caught Drexel on the point of the jaw and spinning round like a top, he fell headlong to the floor.

Lieutenant De Burgh had counted six before Drexel was able to move. Then he arose slowly and tried to raise his hands, but seemed to be dazed. Beresford took up the rush tactics and landed a right and left swing to the jaw. Drexel's arms dropped to his sides. His legs spread far apart and his body began to sway.

Beresford saw his opponent was helpless and stepped back with an appealing look to the referee. Just then young Gould and Moffat jumped into the ring and pulled Drexel to his corner, calling out that Beresford should be credited with a knockout.

Drexel recovered quickly and gave Beresford a hearty handshake while the latter came over to his corner. Drexel's mouth was cut and bleeding and Beresford had some marks on his body, but otherwise they looked none the worse for the encounter.

Rockefeller Smiles When Told of His Reported Death—Seems to Be in Good Health.

Augusta, Ga., Feb. 17.—When John D. Rockefeller, who is spending the winter here, returned to his hotel from a long ride in his automobile he was told the rumor was current in New York that he was either dead or seriously killed. Just the shadow of a smile could be seen about Mr. Rockefeller's mouth as he was told of the report. His only comment was: "Well, I'm alive."

Mr. Rockefeller seems in good health.

THREE STORES—CLOTHING, SHOES AND FURNISHINGS—ON THE BRIDGE.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

IF ALL the young women in the United States would NOT ONLY ABSTAIN FROM SMOKING CIGARETTES THEMSELVES but would sign a pledge to keep others away from the habit, this country would, in one year, shoot ahead of other nations on progress and uplift.

Such is the statement of a Massachusetts woman in a Boston paper. The pledge she refers to runs:

"Making my own declaration of independence from King Nicotine, I promise to use my influence to get others likewise to keep from smoking cigarettes or using tobacco in any form."

No, I am not going to join hands with the lady and plead with my girl readers to please, please try to break themselves of this terrible habit that threatens the progress of the country.

What I want is to protest against this and similar newspaper articles which give the impression that cigarette smoking is one of the habits of the average woman of America.

How many women do you personally know who smoke cigarettes?

I don't mean by that, how many have you heard of or read about, but how many women are there among your personal acquaintances who smoke?

You have heard it rumored, perhaps, that the lady who lives in the big brown stone house smokes after dinner.

You have read doubtless that the daughter of one of our greatest politicians smokes opium.

But, in your own acquaintance, do you really know any girl who regularly—not just once, on a tear, to be real devilish—but as a regular thing, smokes cigarettes?

Let me tell you something.

I have a decidedly wide and diverse acquaintance. It includes many newspaper women, who, as a class, have the reputation of being a trifle rapid. (It is understood in the main, but that's another story.) It also includes college girls, stenographers, society girls, artists, actresses, and in fact women in almost all walks of life, and yet I don't know one woman who has the cigarette habit.

What there are many women in America who do smoke I suppose must be true.

But they are not the middle class, not the people you and I know, not the average woman of America.

They are simply members of the demi monde, the Bohemian class or the wrongly called "upper classes" of society.

Drinking cocktails, playing bridge day and night while their homes and babies suffer, smoking cigarettes—these are vices that according to much of our newspaper literature one would think were the habits of ordinary American women.

That they are not, you and I and all the other women who form the big middle class that is the backbone of the country know perfectly well.

Now can't we frown—or better still laugh—this notion that American women as a class need reforming along these lines, right out of existence?

Date Muffins

A New Way of Using Dates
By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of
The Boston Cooking School Magazine
The value of dates as a food is hardly appreciated. They are wholesome, nutritious, and when used in K & C Date Muffins, make a recipe that is appreciated by the entire family.

K & C Date Muffins
One-third cup butter; 1 cup sugar; 1 egg; 1/2 cup milk; 2 cups flour; 1 level teaspoonful K & C Baking Powder; 1/2 level teaspoonful salt; scant 1/2 pound dates.

Cream the butter, add the sugar and the egg, beaten light. Stir together three times the flour, baking powder and salt; add these to the first mixture, alternately with the milk; beat thoroughly and add the dates, stoned and cut in pieces. To bake, have a slow oven until the muffins double in bulk, then increase heat to bake and brown quickly. Muffins baked this way will be light, appetizing and more easily digested.

This is only one of the many appetizing recipes found in the K & C Cook's Book.

The wonderful K & C Cook's Book is substantially bound and printed in pine colors, contains ninety tested and easily-made recipes by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, of the world famous Boston Cooking School Magazine.

You can secure a copy FREE by sending the colored certificate packed in 25-cent cans of K & C Baking Powder to the Janesville Mfg. Co., Chicago.

Be sure to write name and address plainly.

National Salads.

The following salads may be properly termed national, as they are the favorite salads of the people in the several countries the name of which is given the salad.

German Salad With Sausage.—Boil four frankfort sausages twenty minutes, cut in half-inch pieces. Boil half a pound of sauer kraut ten minutes, drain and cool and mix with the sausage. Cut up two winter radishes and arrange around the salad. Sprinkle with minced onion or shallot, pickles and capers, chill and serve with French salad dressing.

Russian Tomato Salad.—Arrange a bed of torn lettuce leaves in a salad bowl. Peel four tomatoes of medium size, cut fine and mix with six sardines chopped, after skin and bones are removed. Place on lettuce and serve with either mayonnaise or French dressing.

Cuban Salad.—Breakup four dry soda crackers, shred two sweet, Spanish peppers, removing core and seeds. Slice very thin one Spanish onion, skin, bone and mince six anchovies and mix all together. Serve on lettuce with French dressing.

Nontose Salad.—Take four mild flavored onions until tender, remove the tops and put a lump of butter on each. Season with salt and when cold cut in quarters. Add four quartered eggs and six sardines, chopped. Add parsley and mix a teaspoonful of curry with mayonnaise or boiled dressing, and serve.

American Salad.—Mix equal parts of finely cut celery and apple, half the amount of broken nut meats and serve with a boiled or mayonnaise dressing.

Horn of Long Ago.
The name of Simon Cummings, November 12, 1719, is carefully carved on an old horn in Great Barrington, Mass. It was apparently owned by an English soldier of the Royal Highlanders and was probably used in the early colonial days.

Gold Dust

makes dish water that digs

GOLD DUST offers the shortest cut from the drudgery of dish washing. Just a little GOLD DUST shaken in your dish water will remove the grease and dirt.

GOLD DUST digs deep into cracks and corners—purifies and drives out every bit of dirt or hidden germs which soap and water will not reach. GOLD DUST sterilizes as well as cleans.

If you spend two hours a day washing dishes, GOLD DUST will enable you to save one hour—and your dishes, too, will be spotlessly clean.

Do not use Soap. Gold Dust is a fine food—pure and wholesome—full of strength and nourishment. It is easily digested. Young and old can eat Karo Corn Syrup freely, even when they are denied other sweets.

"Sunkist" Oranges

The Finest Fruit Grown

This Genuine Rogers Orange Spoon FREE
Save 12 "Sunkist" Oranges (for Lemons) wrappers and send them to us, with 12¢ to pay charges, and we will send you with a genuine Rogers Orange Spoon, of beautiful design and highest quality. Begin saving wrappers today. Send 12 "Sunkist" wrappers and 12¢ for each additional spoon.

Five thousand orange farmers in California do their own packing, shipping and selling. They grade and select their crop into "firsts," "seconds," etc. The "firsts" are fancy, tree-ripened, seedless, flawless, thin-skinned oranges—a perfect specimen of the finest variety of oranges. They are not only more beautiful and more palatable than other oranges, but they are actually cheaper, for they are nearly all meat and nourishment.

Your dealer sells "Sunkist" Oranges. Ask for them. You will know them by the tissue paper wrapper in which each "Sunkist" Orange is packed. Of the wrapper note the label, "Sunkist." Keep all the wrappers. They are worth money to you.

Best California Lemons Come in "Sunkist" Wrappers.
You can judge lemons by the "clothes" they wear. If they wear "Sunkist" wrappers they are juicy and good, for they are not thick-skinned or pithy. They are just as fine as "Sunkist" Oranges, and their wrappers are equally valuable.

MME. EMMA EAMES AND SIGNOR EMILIO DE GOGORZA, WHO ARE TO BE MARRIED IN PARIS THIS SPRING.

The Katherine Kip Editorial.

YOUR RIGHT TO CLIMB.

Don't fret because you have no ancestry towards which you can point with pride. Don't worry because there are no "ancestors" whose deeds of valor or whose accomplishments or nobility will mark you as among the elite. Don't worry even if there have been cowards and traitors in your line of descent.

In the first place you are not responsible for the foolishness of your family line any more than you are for the errors of those who preceded you in your family calendar. The only person for whom you are responsible is yourself and that is a very great care.

It is, of course, a most fortunate thing and a highly satisfactory one to have ancestors towards whom one can point with pride. It is a most excellent thing to have a noble family tree, but it is no guarantee of your own uprightness or your own probity of life.

The whole test is in yourself. You are valuable to the world in exact proportion to your activities and power to restrain evil tendencies and give out good effects. Your family tree may be the most glorious one in the land but it will avail you nothing if you are not honest in your own intention towards the rest of the world.

Our family tree may have sheltered traitors and cowards but that should be no concern of yours except that it marks out a possible danger. Some ancestor or some one well within the family lines may not have been strong. He may have been a pliable, clinging coward when courageous men were needed, but that should affect you only to the extent of making you careful that you do not fall in like manner.

None of us are responsible for the sins or shortcomings of our forebears but we should be held responsible for the weakness of our descendants. If it is in the family that sets us to see that we send into the future only qualities of conduct that make us strong men and women. For this purpose we should take care to eliminate from our character those little follies that passed on to others may become positive defects if not real deficiencies that destroy the stamina and fibro of being.

This thing of our living is not a matter of today or of our generation, nor is it a matter entirely personal or individual. It is larger and more splendid than that. It is a matter of the future as well as of the present; a matter of transmitting to posterity those traits and characteristics that shall contribute to its strength.

Each person has a right to seek to climb and to climb as high as his aspirations will let him regardless of any circumstances of the past. The only exception is that he is sincere that he is honest in his intentions and that he is willing to concede others the same privileges for opportunity he claims for himself. That is the measure by which our own lives must be calculated either by our neighbors or those who shall come after us—those who shall occupy our places a hundred or a thousand years hence.

Stopped Train to Recover Poodle.

Mrs. Richard Buckles of Taylorville, Ill., caused a passenger train on the Huff line to be stopped between Alton and St. Louis while she got off to search for a pet French poodle dog which she had entrusted to the baggage man and which escaped through the open car door.

Mrs. Buckles was going to McCluskey, Ill., to visit and had put the dog in the baggage car. While the baggage man had the door open the dog leaped out and the baggage man went back to notify Mrs. Buckles of the loss.

Mrs. Buckles insisted that the conductor stop the train while she got off. She found the poodle, only slightly injured. She then drove to Alton, where she waited for another train.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Limberger Cheese.

Everything is but a matter of taste. Some people like Limberger cheese. And some other people don't. Yet the view of either side does not jar Limberger when it is good—which, when it is bad is horrid and should be buried.

LETTER FROM THE REAL WILD WEST

COMES FROM WILLIAM W. WATT
OF RENO, NEVADA, WHO WAS

A FORMER RESIDENT HERE

Train Held Up By Bandits—Country
Stirred By Murder Of Four.

William W. Watt, a former resident of this city, who is now living in Reno, Nevada, writes a very interesting letter to the Gazette, dated on the 12th, in which he depicts a little of the real life of the west in relating some of the wild and woolly happenings of that country. It is very evident from his letter that all of the hair-raising atmosphere of the Rockies has not disappeared. Following is the communication:

Reno, Nevada, Feb. 12.

Editor Gazette,
For the first time in two years I have commenced to realize the full meaning of that old slogan "the wild and woolly west." Last month the Overland Limited train on the Southern Pacific route was held up between this city and Ogden by two lone bandits who killed one man and wounded a score of others before they made good their escape from the train. With the wounded passengers the train pulled into Reno several hours late where the injured were cared for at the local hospitals. Now the entire country about here has been stirred as never before as the result of the wholesale murder of four wealthy cattle owners whose mutilated bodies were discovered yesterday north of this city.

Four bodies, piled in a heap in the blood-stained snow, stripped of weapons and clothing and exposed to the rigors of the merciless cold, the howling coyotes and with knife-wash and bullet holes to mark the last question, told the searchers that Harry Campbell, J. L. Langston, Peter Brannan and J. H. Indiana had been murdered in cold blood.

Indians are suspected of committing the murders and as soon as the terrible news reached Reno the Sheriff ordered a special train to go near the scene on the road runs which means a seventy mile trip on horseback after leaving the railroad. A strong posse was armed was taken along together with many horses. These men are all fighters and if they ever meet their particular brand of Indians I tell you that something will be doing. For some time the four murdered cattle owners have found where Indians or white rustlers had killed several head of their cattle. To prevent this the four men started out on horseback to investigate. This was on January 19 and after being gone two weeks friends started out in search. Yesterday the four bodies were discovered all in a pile. Their horses were all shot and the murderers left two of their own behind. Where this terrible crime was committed nature has created a perfect Gibraltar of granite, impassable except to the most cunning in winter and in summer the man who starts with stock must be well versed if he does not face death from thirst. All Reno is anxiously awaiting news from Sheriff Ferrell and his deputies.

Fear Was Entertained Last
Bridges Should Be Washed Out
With the Flood.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

South La Prairie, Feb. 17.—The ice went out of Turtle Creek with such a jam on Tuesday morning that it took trees and fences out, and came almost to the doors of some of the homes along the route. The bridges stood the test although it was feared it might be weakened by the ice. A large force of men are at work opening up the road along the creek.

Cavanagh, Forest Ranger

The Great Conservation Novel

By HAMLIN GARLAND

Copyright, 1910, by Hamlin Garland

Gregg was not satisfied. "Cavanagh admitted to the deputy and to me that he believed the case to be smallpox and said that he had destroyed the camp and everything connected with it except the horse and the dog, and yet he comes down here, infecting everybody he meets." He turned to Lee. "You'd better burn the bed he slept on. He's left a trail of germs wherever he went. I say the man is criminally liable and should be jailed if he lives to get back to town."

Lee's mind was off now on another tangent. "Suppose it is true?" he asked herself. "Suppose he has fallen sick away up there, miles and miles from any nurse or doctor?"

"There's something queer about the whole business," pursued Gregg. "For instance, who is this assistant he's got? Johnson said there was an old man in ranger uniform pottering round. Why didn't he send word by him? Why did he let me come to the door? He might have involved me in the disease, I tell you. If you don't take care of him the people of the county will."

The forester looked grave. "If he knew it was smallpox and failed to report it he did wrong, but you say he took care of this poor shepherd-nursed him till he died and buried him, taking all precautions. You can't complain of that, can you? That's the act of a good ranger and a brave man. You wouldn't have done it!" he ended, addressing Gregg. "Sickness up there two full miles above sea level is quite a different proposition from sickness in Sulphur City or the Fork. I shall not condemn Mr. Cavanagh till I hear his side of the story."

Lee turned a grateful glance upon him. "You must be right. I don't believe Mr. Cavanagh would deceive any one."

"Well, we'll soon know the truth," said Dalton, "for I'm going up there. If the ranger has been exposed his must not be left alone."

"He ain't alone," declared the sheriff. "Tom phoned me that he had an assistant."

"Swenson, I suppose," said Redfield, who entered at this moment. "Swenson is his assistant."

"I didn't see him myself," Gregg continued, "but I understood the deputy to say that he was an old man."

"Swenson is a young man," corrected Redfield.

The sheriff insisted. "Tom said it was an old man—a stranger to him—tall, smooth shaven, not very strong, he said—seemed to be a cook. He had helped nurse the dog, so Tom said."

"That's very curious," mused Redfield. "There isn't an old man in the service of this forest. There's a mistake somewhere."

"Well," concluded Gregg, "that's what he said. I thought at first it might be that old hobo Edwards, but this fellow being in uniform and smooth shaven—" His face changed; his voice deepened. "Say, I believe it was Edwards, and furthermore, Edwards is the convict that Texas marshals was after the other day, and this man Cavanagh—your prize ranger—is harboring him."

"What nonsense!" exclaimed Redfield.

The sheriff banged his hand upon the table. "That's the whole mystery. I see it all now. He's up there concealing this man. He's given out this smallpox scare just to keep the officers away from him. Now you've got it!"

The thunder in his voice drew toward him all those who remained in the dining room, and Lee found herself roused about by a dozen excited men, but who did not flinch. She was too deeply concerned over Cavanagh's fate to be afraid, and besides, Redfield and the forester were beside her.

The supervisor was staggered by Gregg's accusation and by certain contradictory facts in his own possession, but he defended Cavanagh bravely. "You're crazy," he replied. "Why should Ross do such a foolish thing? What is his motive? What interest would he have in this man Edwards, whom you call a tramp? He can't be a relative and certainly not a friend of Cavanagh's, for you say he is a convict. Come, now, your hatred of Cavanagh has gone too far."

Gregg was somewhat cooled by this dash of reason, but replied: "I don't know what relation he is, but these are facts. He's concealing an escaped convict, and he knows it."

Dalton put in a quiet word. "What is the use of shouting a judgment against a man like Cavanagh before you know the facts? He's one of the best and ablest rangers on this forest. I don't know why he has resigned, but I'm sure."

"He has,"

"A good job for him. I was about to circulate a petition to have him removed."

"If all the stockmen in the valley had signed a petition against him it wouldn't have done any good," replied Dalton. "We know a good man when we see him. I'm here to offer him promotion, not to punish him."

Lee, looking about at the faces of these men, and seeing disappointment in their faces, felt the keen sting of her own humiliation. "In the midst of such a fight as this how can he give time or thought to me?" Painful as this admission was, she was forced to admit that she was a very humble factor in a very large campaign. "But suppose he falls ill!" Her face grew white and set and her lips bitter. "That would be the final tragic touch," she thought, "to have him come down of a plague from nursing one of Sam Gregg's sheep herders." Aloud she said: "His resignation comes just in time, doesn't it? He can now be sick without loss to the service."

Dalton answered her. "The supervisor has not accepted his resignation. On the contrary, I shall offer him a higher position. His career as a forester is only beginning. He would be foolish to give up the work now, when the avenues of promotion are just opening. I can offer him very soon the supervision of a forest."

As they talked Lee felt herself sinking while her lover rose. It was all true. The forester was right. Ross was capable of any work they might demand of him. He was too skilled, too intelligent, too manly, to remain in the forest, heroic as its duties seemed.

Upon this discussion, like, hobbling painfully, appeared. With a cry of surprise Lee rose to meet her.

"Mother, you must not do this!" She waved her away. "I'm all right," she said, "barring the big muscles in my slippers." Then she turned to Dalton. "Now, what's it all about? Is it true that Ross is down?"

"No. So far as we know, he is well."

"Well, I'm going to find out. I don't intend to set here and have him up there without a cook or a nurse."

At this moment a tall, fair young fellow, dressed in a ranger's uniform, entered the room and made his way directly to the spot where Lee, her mother and Redfield were standing.

"Mr. Supervisor, Cavanagh has sent me to tell you that he needs a doctor. He's got a sick man up at the station, and he's afraid it's a case of smallpox." He turned to Lee. "He told me to tell you that he would have written, only he was afraid to even send a letter out."

"What does he need?" asked Redfield.

"He needs medicine and food, a doctor, and he ought to have a nurse."

"That's my job," said Lee. "Nonsense!" said Redfield. "You're not fit to ride a mule. I won't bear of your going."

"You wait and see. I'm going, and you can't stop me."

"Who is the man with him?" asked the forester.

"I don't know—an old herder, he said. He said he could take care of him all right for the present, but that if he were taken down himself."

Lee's mounting emotion broke from her in a little cry. "Oh, Mr. Redfield, please let me go too. I want to help!"

Redfield said: "I'll telephone to Sulphur City and ask Brooks to get a nurse and come down as soon as possible. Meanwhile I'll go out to see what the conditions are."

"I'm going, too, I tell you," announced Lee. "I've had the cursed disease, and I'm not afraid of it. We had three stages of it in my family. You got me up there, and I'll do the rest."

"But you are ill."

"I was, but I'm not now." Her voice was firmer than it had been for days. "All I needed was something to do. Ross Cavanagh has been like a son to me for two years. He's the one man in this country I'd turn my hand over for—barring yourself, Reddy—and it's my job to see him through this pinch."

In spite of all opposition she had her way. Returning to her room to get such clothing as she needed for her stay in the hills, she waited for Redfield to send a carriage to her. "I can't ride a horse no more," she sorrowfully admitted.

Lee's secret was no secret to any one there. Her wide eyes and heaving breast testified to the profound stir in her heart. She was in an anguish of fear lest Ross should already be in the grip of his long-sought enemy. That it had come to him by way of a brave and noble act made the situation only the more tragic.

CHAPTER NINE.

THE PETHOUSE.

Cavanagh had kept a keen watch over Wetherford, and when one night the old man began to complain of the ache in his bones his decision was instant.

"You've got it," he said. "It's up to us to move down the valley tomorrow."

Wetherford protested that he would as soon die in the hills as in the valley. "I don't want Lee Virginia to know, but if I seem liable to fade out I'll like Lee to be told that I didn't forget her and that I came back to find out how she was. I hate to be a nuisance to you, and so I'll go down the valley if you say so."

As he was about to turn in that night Ross heard a horse cross the bridge and, with intent to warn the rider of his danger, went to the door and called out: "Halt! Who's there?"

"A friend," replied the stranger in a weak voice.

Ross permitted the visitor to ride up to the pole. "I can't ask you in," he explained. "I've a sick man inside. Who are you, and what can I do for you?"

Notwithstanding this warning the rider dropped from his saddle and came into the light which streamed from the door.

"My name is Dunn," he began. "I'm from Dear Creek."

A Christian Burial

By REV. W. BEHNKEN
Pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church
Houston, Texas

We would ask, then, to whom alone ought a Christian burial be granted? Our answer is short and concise—a Christian's burial ought to be granted only to Christians and to no one else, even if he were the mightiest ruler on earth. Is that answer not clear, plain and concise enough? Now, let us look at that matter a little closer.

When I see a funeral procession composed of heathens, headed by a heathen priest, I conclude that the deceased was a heathen. When I see Jews, headed by a rabbi, in funeral processions, I rightly conclude that the deceased was a Jew. When a company of men wearing aprons or badges or other paraphernalia follow a coffin, I conclude that the deceased was a lodge member. When I see a coffin decked with the country's flag, accompanied by military men, and when I see military rites performed at the grave, I can safely conclude that the deceased was a soldier. And when I see the Christian congregation, with their pastor, at the grave and hear them sing or pray or use the word of God, I ought to be able to conclude that the deceased was a Christian and died a Christian death.

Is that not right? Ought we not to be able to conclude that? Yes, we ought to, and years ago we could, but nowadays you cannot. Almost daily you can see where so-called Christian ministers officiate at the graves of open unbelievers, suicides, criminals and the like. Is this not true? They are not ashamed to grant such who have died in open unbelief a Christian burial. That is shameful, unbecomingly horrible.

But, they say, "you cannot judge others, you cannot see into their heart whether they were Christians or not, whether they have died in the faith or not. God says: 'Judge not, that ye be not judged,' and that is what you do when you deny them a Christian burial."

Now, my dear friends, it's true that we cannot look into other men's hearts to see whether they are upright Christians or not. But we do know, and that most assuredly, what kind of people are not Christians, namely, those who despised the word of God and the sacraments and refused to make use of the means of grace and that such people are not Christians, we know from the word of God that cannot lie. Christ says in unmistakable words: "He that is of God heareth God's word."

And God also says: "Because thou hast rejected knowledge, I will also reject thee." Think of this a moment. There is a man who knows our church doors are open to him, he knows that the ringing of the bell invites him, but he passes by.

I ask everyone who still has a spark of conscience in him, ought such a man to have a Christian burial? Ought we to open the door to such a person, who refused to enter them when alive? Shall we confess that we look forward to his resurrection into everlasting life? Is that denying the faith, denying Christ as the only hope of salvation? Do we not know that God says, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." Shall we alter or change this? Let us remember that God said: "Do not be deceived, God is not mocked."

It is just this gross denial of faith at the graves of the ungodly that causes men to become indifferent in religious matters. Christianity is therefore laid bare to open ridicule. Men will ask, "Why should I run to church? When I do they can easily get a preacher who will bury me for ten dollars and will preach as fine a sermon as for those who constantly go to church?"

But some will say, "We will not mention the deceased at all. We do not want to have the impression that the deceased is blessed and eternally saved." That makes matters worse still. Then they become hypocrites. By the fact that the deceased is not mentioned in the prayers they show he is not worthy of it.

They stand there as Christian ministers and yet do not dare mention the deceased, because they and every one present knows that he was not a Christian, and that a Christian minister is no business there.

But the way, "We are preaching to the living and not the dead." What are we burying the living? Is it not the dead to whom the honor of a Christian burial is given? And do they say that they want to comfort the survivors? How shall they comfort? If they say the deceased is saved, they are guilty of a falsehood or if they speak the truth and say the deceased did not die a Christian and cannot be saved, then they have avowed a scorn of hatred against themselves. Or shall they preach repentance there? That will fall also. Are they not officiating at the burial of an unbeliever? Will not the people say, "If what you say be true, why are you here granting a Christian burial to an unbeliever?" Oh, my friends, let us remember "Blessed are the dead (and only they) who die in the Lord." And to them alone ought a Christian burial be granted. If they have been hypocrites and deceived us, they will find their judge whom they cannot deceive. But as for us, may God grant us grace that we may not deny the faith nor deny the Saviour by granting Christian burials to such as have not died in the Lord.

COSTS BUT A TRIFLE TO CURE CATARRH

How many readers of The Gazette know that in inland Australia where the mightiest of eucalyptus trees grow in abundance, that there is no consumption, catarrh or diseases of the respiratory tract.

The refreshing balsam thrown out by these trees fills the air and is breathed into the lungs by the inhabitants and all germ life is destroyed.

If you have catarrh you cannot go to inland Australia except at great expense, but you can breathe right in your own home the same pleasant, soothing, healing, germ-killing air you would breathe if you were living in the eucalyptus district of Australia.

Just breathe HYOIMEI; it is made from Australian eucalyptus and scientifically combined with thymol and other antiseptics employed in the Listerian system.

Four or five drops of HYOIMEI in the inhaler and breathe it. As it passes over the catarrh infected membrane it kills the germs and heals the raw, inflamed surface.

HYOIMEI is guaranteed to cure catarrh, coughs, colds, croup and sore throat, or money back. Complete outfit including inhaler $1.00. Extra bottles of HYOIMEI cost but 50 cents. Sold by the People's Drug Co., and drug stores everywhere.

Proof of Power.
The man who is worthy of being a leader of men will never complain of the stupidity of his helpers, or of the ingratitude of mankind nor of the ingratitude of the public. These things are all a part of the great game of life and to meet them and not go down before them in discouragement and defeat is the final proof of power. —Elbert Hubbard.

HELPFUL HINTS ON HAIR HEALTH

Scalp and Hair Troubles Generally Caused by Carelessness.

Dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a microbe which also produces baldness. Never use a comb or brush belonging to some one else. No matter how cleanly the owner may be, these articles may be infected with microbes which will infect your scalp. It is far easier to catch hair microbes than it is to get rid of them, and a single stroke of an infected comb or brush may well lead to baldness. Never try on anybody else's hat. Many a husband is a resting place for microbes. If you happen to be troubled with dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair or baldness, we have a remedy which we believe will completely relieve these troubles. We are so sure of this that we offer it to you with the understanding that it will cost you nothing for the trial if it does not produce the results we claim. This remedy is called Rexall "33" Hair Tonic. We honestly believe it to be the most scientific remedy for scalp and hair troubles, and we know of nothing else that equals it for effectiveness, because of the results it has produced in thousands of cases.

Rexall "33" Hair Tonic is devalued to banish dandruff, restore natural color when its loss has been brought about by disease, and make the hair naturally silky, soft and glossy. It stimulates the hair follicles, destroys the germ matter and brings about a free, healthy circulation of blood, which nourishes the hair roots, causing them to tighten and grow new hair. We want everybody who has any trouble with hair or scalp to know that Rexall "33" Hair Tonic is the best hair tonic and restorative in existence, and no one should scoff at or doubt this statement until they have put our claims to a fair test, with the understanding that they pay us nothing for the remedy if it does not give full and complete satisfaction in every particular. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Jamesville only at our store, The Rexall Store. The Smith Drug Co.
